DAILY PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON, JANUARY 23, 1834

☞The Market.—There is but little change in our market since last week. We therefore omit the prices current to make room for other matter. Owing to the pressure in the money market, to the eastward and here, flour is down to $3 75, and we are assured that it must continue to decline.

The Difference.—It is now eighteen years since the Bank of the United States was chartered; and during the whole of the intervening period, she has faithfully performed all her engagements with the government. During all that time she has faithfully and safely kept the public money, and has, without the slightest expense, transmitted millions and millions of money from Boston to New Orleans, and from New York to St. Louis. All this is admitted by Secretary Taney, and yet he removed the deposits.

It is now eighteen weeks since Secretary Taney made an agreement with the Manhattan Bank, and placed a large amount of the public money in her vaults.

One article in this agreement was, that as soon as the public moneys deposited in that Bank exceeded a certain amount, the Directors were to give security for their safe keeping.—That contingency has already occurred—the deposits in that bank exceed the specified amount, and yet the Directors refuse to perform their stipulation—refuse to give the security.—Such is the difference in the conduct of the proscribed and the pet Bank.

But will Secretary Taney permit the deposits to remain in that Bank?—Four months ago, he deliberately formed the opinion that the deposits, after they exceeded a certain amount, could not be safely trusted there without security. The Bank promised to furnish that security; and now, in violation of that agreement, refuses to give the security. Will this violation of its stipulation increase the confidence of the Secretary in the stability of the institution?—Will he, after taking the deposits from a bank that never violated an engagement, permit them to remain in one which violated its very first and principal engagement?

Something like a resemblance.—There was, in Venice, "a portentous tribunal"—a kind of Kitchen Cabinet—composed of three State Inquisitors—somewhat like our Blair, Kendall, and Lewis.—They had extraordinary powers—they could declare any act, however innocent, a State crime; and, having so declared it, they could impose any punishment they pleased.—They held the keys of the Treasury, and were no way accountable for the sums they expended—somewhat like our Secretary Taney.—Its citations, arrests, and other instruments were issued in the name of the Council of Ten, and its judgments pronounced by the mouths of Secretaries—as the messages and "reasons" of our three modern Inquisitors are issued in the name of Andrew Jackson.

The public eye never penetrated the mystery of their proceedings—the accused was sometimes not heard—never confronted with his accusers—and the sentence was as secret as the enquiry—as has been the case with hundreds dismissed from office by our modern Inquisitors.

Historians pronounced this secret tribunal "the most execrable part" of the Venitian government—and future historians will do the same for our modern Inquisitors.

This tribunal had, in their pay and confidence, certain Spies, who were "devised as instruments" to attain certain objects—in this they resembled our modern Government Spies.

Historians state that this "Judas band of Spies possessed a nice sensitiveness of honor," and disliked exceedingly the name of Spies; a smooth and gentle title was, therefore, selected, which they greatly preferred, viz. raccordanti. Future historians may state, that the men, who were "devised as instruments" of the Kitchen Cabinet, in the Bank of the United States, also greatly disliked the name, Spies, and preferred that of Government Directors.

At Venice, if any one dared to taunt (moteggiati) these sensitive gentlemen, he was immediately seized and tortured.—Here the parallel ends—if now any one taunts these modern Spies it is the Spies themselves, and not the taunters, that bear the torture.

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States, in Congress assembled—

THE MEMORIAL OF THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE OF THE CITY OF PHILADELPHIA,

Respectfully Represents—

That, prompted by a strong sense of duty, and viewing with serious alarm the present crisis in the money concerns of the country, the undersigned confidently apply to Congress for relief; under whose guardianship and control the currency of the nation has been specially placed by the letter, as well as the spirit of the Constitution.

Among the indications of wide spread and rapidly increasing distress, the recent expression of public opinion, by the largest assemblage of people, without distinction of party, ever witnessed in this city, is not the least impressive; and the following facts, in addition, will satisfy your honorable bodies that there is neither exaggeration nor coloring in the assertion here made—that the prevailing panic and pressure for money, and the gloomy forebodings of the future, are without a precedent in the experience of this country. In proof of this allegation the Chamber of Commerce refer with pain—

To the decline in price of the public and incorporated Stocks, generally, which varies from 10 to 30 per cent.—

To the depression of the Foreign and Domestic Exchanges, and the extreme difficulty of negotiating Bills—

To the fall in value of all the principal articles of domestic produce, whether for export or home consumption—

To the impracticability of borrowing, as heretofore, on mortgage, even at the highest legal rate of interest, and the ruinous discount now current on good mercantile paper, which varies from 12 to 18 per cent. per annum—

To the difficulty of obtaining cash advances on produce or merchandise from factors or commission merchants, who refuse to contract engagements with which they may not be able to comply—

To the inability of Contractors for State Loans, or the subscribers to Corporate Stocks, to pay up their instalments, and the great danger of a suspension of the public improvements, from the difficulty of borrowing, and the consequent disappointment and ruin of the Contractors for the public works—

To the discharge from employ of laborers and workmen, and the suspension of business in the various mechanical and manufacturing pursuits—

To the decline in value of Real Estate, both in town and country—

To the inability of some of the corporate companies to pay the interest on their borrowed money, or of the State Banks to discount new paper, or do more than renew their previous loans; and, in fine, to the suspension of all commercial confidence—the complete stagnation of business in every department of industry—and the bankruptcies and embarrassment consequent on such a state of affairs—

To the necessity imposed on the Bank of the United States, of contracting its accommodations, and of guarding against the attempts to cripple its resources and decry its credit, not only by a withdrawal of the public deposits, but by a combined and systematic proscription and perversion of all its operations, even when dictated by self preservation.

In regard to the cause of the frightful conjuncture here depicted, your memorialists feel it due to candor, to point unreservedly to the removal of the public funds, as the immediate and only one to which the present pecuniary distress can be rationally attributed.

They are unable to conceive how, in good faith or sound policy, a National Bank, created among other objects, for the express purpose of restoring specie payments—of regulating and maintaining a pure and unvitiated currency—an institution at once the fiscal agent and copartner of the Government, to the extent of one fifth of its capital, can be crushed and destroyed, without burying beneath its ruins all the great interests of the country, with which its existence is indissolubly connected. Would the downfall of the Bank (it is respectfully asked) benefit the condition of the Government and people? Would not such an event, on the contrary, draw into its vortex all the State Banks, and lead infallibly to a suspension of specie payments?

Fear and distrust are gradually ripening (as your memorialists believe) into desperation and despair; and must paralyze and derange the diversified concerns of the whole country—embracing, at this moment, not less than ONE THOUSAND MILLIONS OF DOLLARS of property, which is in a constant state of motion and transit throughout the vast extent of this Union. Among the most alarming proofs of declining credit and reputation abroad, is the fact that considerable parcels of American Stocks have recently been returned from London as unsaleable; and it cannot be disguised that the high confidence of European capitalists, heretofore reposed in the security of our State Loans and Bank Stocks, has been so shaken by the attempts to discredit and destroy our own Government Bank, as to have produced the most disastrous reaction in the market here, followed by a reduction in value unprecedented both in the rates and rapidity of the decline.

Heretofore our merchants have been able to effect loans upon a deposit, or sale of American Stocks in London, as best suited their convenience, and the demand for our public improvements; but those facilities and resources are now cut off, by the withdrawal of that confidence upon which alone they rested, and that at a moment when our extensive operations, in canals and rail roads, have rendered the exigency peculiarly mischievous and embarrassing.

Although the undersigned abstain from the discussion of mere political questions, which Congress alone are competent to decide, yet in matters involving the rights and interests of the community, they look with confidence to the powers reposed by the Constitution in your honorable bodies, as the true and legitimate source of relief.

In recurring to that instrument, they find that the exclusive authority to coin money and regulate the currency is reserved to the Federal Government, and that the States are specially prohibited from exercising that vital function of sovereignty—and can neither issue bills of credit, nor make any thing but gold and silver a legal tender in payment of debts.

It is, therefore, apparent that, in applying a remedy for the existing evils, Congress would be only exercising the same constitutional power under which it has twice created a National Bank, that has been in operation thirty six years of the forty four of our political existence. It was under that provision of the Constitution which authorizes Congress to coin money, and fix the value of the precious metals, (and by consequence the value of their paper representative) that the currency of the country has hitherto been regulated, and confidence and stability imparted to the pecuniary transactions and exchanges of the Union—excepting only that period, from 1811 to 1816, between the expiration of the charter of the first Bank and the establishment of the present Bank of the United States, when specie payments were suspended by the State Banks. This circumstance conveys a salutary admonition in regard to the importance and necessity of a National Bank to check and restrain excessive issues of notes by the State Institutions, and shows their utter incompetence to furnish a safe and universal currency, inasmuch as it was through the instrumentality and agency of the present Bank of the United States alone, that specie payments were finally resumed, and the money concerns of the country restored to their former sound condition. There are some peculiarities in the currency of the United States, as contrasted with that of Great Britain and France, which deserve the most serious consideration of Congress, and which subject it to dangerous fluctuations, unknown in those countries with whom we are most intimately connected in trade and exchanges. These fluctuations particularly incident to a circulation extending over the twenty four States, and resting upon a very limited metallic basis, obviously requires the utmost vigilance of the National Legislature to preserve it from frequent convulsions and the danger of a suspension of specie payments. The liability of such a catastrophe is just in proportion to the various laws, provisions, and regulations in which these Banks are established, and to the amount of specie in their vaults, which in the Safety Fund Banks of New York, appear by late official returns to be only 5 1-2 per cent. on their capitals. France incurs no risk from these causes—her currency is all metallic, except about one tenth. That of G. Britain is half of gold and silver, and half of bank notes, and her great National Bank has therefore little comparative difficulty in restraining the issues of the country banks, which are, moreover, controlled by fourteen branches, which will probably be soon increased in number. The currency of the United States consists of the notes of four hundred banks, including that of our National Bank—the aggregate capitals of which are about two hundred millions of dollars—the notes in circulation are one hundred millions, and the deposits estimated at fifty millions of dollars, making altogether one hundred and fifty millions of currency in Bank notes and deposits, which are sustained by only twenty millions of SPECIE in the vaults of all the Banks. Here then is an aggregate mass of three hundred and fifty millions of dollars, (exclusive of negotiable mercantile notes to a vast amount) all resting upon confidence, and only twenty millions of specie for its support. Now, as the Bank of the the United States possesses one half the specie in the vaults of all the Banks, to wit, ten millions of dollars, and has, moreover, large balances due it and the Branches by the State Banks, the inference is not less clear than satisfactory, that Congress holds, by means of the Bank of the United States, a salutary control over the issues of the State Banks, and is able to sustain and regulate their operations, so as to keep them within the limits necessary for their own safety, as well as that of the country.

This control will be seen and acknowledged by all acquainted with the principles of banking, to be essential to the security of a currency composed almost entirely of paper, and so very inferior in its metallic basis, to that of England and France. From these data, your memorialists respectfully submit, that a National Bank, whose notes circulate and command specie in every quarter of the Union, is the surest friend and support of the State Banks, and that its own safety is identified with, and absolutely requires that it should aid and protect all the sound state institutions. One of the greatest dangers the undersigned conceive, to which the currency and public and private credit are now exposed, is the loss of that confidence abroad which rendered our public stocks and loans a sure and safe remittance to England, and which, consequently, diminished the drain and export of specie, when the rate of exchange was above the par standard—to the same extent in which our stocks can be sold and retained in Europe. It is, therefore, obvious, that unless confidence in our public securities can be restored by preserving the national faith, that the moment exchange rises beyond the real par value, the specie of the country will be drawn from the Banks as a remittance to Europe, and leave them with empty vaults to deplore, a second time, when too late to be corrected, the fatal policy of suspending specie payments. There is, indeed, too much reason to apprehend that the injury and shock which American credit has sustained in Europe, by the late impeachment of our National Bank, will not easily be repaired and overcome—but if even that stain upon our reputation were washed away, it can only be done by preserving good faith with the stockholders of the Bank, (both foreign and domestic,) and restoring the public deposits to its safe keeping, in conformity to the conditions of its charter: and they beg leave to add their solemn conviction, that the system of internal improvements, by roads and canals, now in progress, in Pennsylvania, and throughout the United States, will, if aided and sustained by a sound currency, through the instrumentality of a National Bank, be the best guarantee for the perpetuity of the Union, and the prosperity and happiness of the American people. They are, moreover, thoroughly satisfied, that the interest of the State Banks is not only compatible with the existence of a National Bank, but that each, in its proper sphere, is necessary and useful to the other.

In conclusion, your memorialists respectfully pray your honorable bodies to cause the public deposits to be restored to the Bank of the United States, as due in good faith to the stockholders in that Institution, and to the great interests of the nation.

The Times.—We have, since our last, from different quarters, indications of public opinion and feeling concerning the present state of public affairs.

From Richmond, we learn that, on Wednesday, a resolution was adopted in the House of Delegates of Virginia, by a vote of 76 to 53, pointedly condemning the Removal of the Deposits by the Executive from the Bank of the United States as an unauthorized assumption and exercise of Executive power.

The following resolution was also adopted in the same body, by a vote of 81 to 48:

Resolved, That, while this General Assembly will ever maintain and defend the President of the United States in the exercise of such powers as the Constitution has clearly confided to him, nevertheless contemplates, with anxiety and dismay, the disposition evinced of late to extend those powers beyond the proper limitations of that instrument, a disposition clearly manifested in the recent subjection to Executive control of the Treasury Department of the Federal Government in the exercise of an important discretion, for which it was made solely responsible to Congress."

The resolution (the Whig says) "shows the true sense of the House upon the Executive conduct in the removal of the deposits."

On the same day, in the same body, a resolution was adopted by a vote of 76 to 53, declaring the Bank unconstitutional! "The House of Delegates, therefore," again says the Whig, "by a sweeping majority, have voted the removal of the deposits illegal, and censured the conduct of the Executive, as unlawful and usurping. They also, by a decided majority, declared the Bank to be unconstitutional!"—Nat. Intel.

From the National Intelligencer.

Whatever may be the inconvenience and even distress, however, which has already been produced by the derangement of the whole course of trade and exchange, which a few subalterns of the Government have found their account in producing—whatever may be the present evils resulting from this measure, the danger and distress have by no means reached their crisis. The funds which were in deposit in the Bank of the United States, so far as they can be controlled by the Treasury, are nearly exhausted, and the expenditures of the Government must soon be paid exclusively by drafts on the new deposit Banks. Then comes the day of trial. That day, we have, from the moment of the movement of "the Government," in September last, in our own mind fixed for the middle of March, about which time we know that preparations must be made for the quarter day which follows immediately after; when the deposit banks must strengthen themselves at the expense of their customers, and of all other local Banks, and when, in consequence of the vindictive course pursued towards the Bank of the U. States, that institution will hardly be able to lend a hand to these pet banks to prevent their sinking, and carrying with them the Public Deposits down to where a search warrant will never find them. This calculation of ours as to the moment of arrival of the coming evil, which already casts its shadow before, is corroborated by what we see urged on this point elsewhere. We particularly ask the attention of our readers to the following passage of an editorial article of the last number of the N. Y. Courier and Enquirer:

"February, March, and April, are months in which our Pearl street merchants must feel the effects of the pervading pressure, and when hundreds of them must be ruined, if not relieved by our Banks. At this time, the Government has drawn all its disposable funds out of the Bank of the United States, and in future the expenses of the Government must be drawn out of the vaults of the State Banks. If, when receiving hundreds of thousands daily from the Government, and weekly from the Bank of the United States, they could not afford relief, how are they now to do it, when they can no longer be furnished with the secret checks upon the U. States' Bank, and when they are called upon to pay out weekly all that may be required for the current expenses of the Government? Let any reasonable man put this question to himself, and deny, if he can, that our difficulties have but commenced, and that more is to be apprehended for the future, than has been suffered from the past."

The Deposits in the House of Delegates.—The resolutions of the Select Committee were yesterday taken up in the House, various projects submitted by Messrs. Faulkner, Nash, Botts, and Hooe, of King George, and the whole subject recommitted—a course rendered necessary, by the changed position of the question, produced by the action of the stockholders of the Bank of Virginia.

The resolutions of Messrs. Faulkner, Nash, Botts, and Hooe will appear to morrow, and the Debate as early as possible.

The Van Buren Administration party, made througq Messrs. Watkins, Roane, Wilson, and Moorman, violent, but unavailing efforts, to get rid of the subject by a side wind. Indirectly, the House has declared its opinion by decisive majorities. It will do so directly, in a few days, in a less equivocal mode. The Committee, it is thought, will act with great promptitude.

The Van Buren gentlemen play out their game of embarrassing proceedings, by involving the constitutionality of the Bank, to the last. But, it is too well understood to succeed.—Richmond Whig, January 13.

BANK CORRESPONDENCE.

The Journal of Commerce of Saturday morning publishes the answers of the several Banks in the city to the application of Amos Kendall, and nearly all express a willingness to handle the public money, excepting the City Bank, and we subjoin the reply of that Bank, because it evinces a better knowledge of the whole ground, as well as the general principles of Banking, and is worth all the answers put together.—Star.

CITY BANK.

New York, August 8, 1833.

Sir:—In answer to your letter of the 7th inst. which was this morning received, I am instructed to say, that however desirous, under other circumstances, this bank might be to participate in the receipt and disbursement of the public revenue, it cannot, consistently with its views of propriety, make any proposition calculated, in any manner, to interfere with the rights or interests of another institution.

Of the actual intention of the Government to place the public deposits in other hands, your letter affords no evidence, but expressly leaves it as a matter dependent, on contingencies, and those apparently improbable and remote. In the absence, therefore, of any known determination of the Government upon the subject, any offer on the part of the local banks to receive such deposits would seem to be at least premature.

That the determination to remove them from the Bank of the United States can alone be based upon the necessity of the measure, it is both reasonable and respectful to infer. That such necessity does not at present exist, seems to be conceded by the general tenor of your letter, and in that the directors of this bank readily concur.

Very respectfully,
Sir, your obedient servant,
THOS. BLOODGOOD, President.

Amos Kendall, Esq.

The agreement entered into between the State Banks and the Secretary of the Treasury, stipulates that collateral security shall be given by the Banks in certain contingencies, and may be required by the Secretary at any time. It appears that the Manhattan Bank, of New York, has been called on for the security, but has failed to furnish it: and so it will be with every bank that has been selected. They cannot give the security required, for no man will be found willing to yield his property as collateral security for the public deposits. The President of the Bank of Virginia, although he signed the agreement, has expressly stated, in a public communication, that if security be required it will be refused. The public treasure, then, has been transferred, from a place of acknowledged safety, to banks deemed, by the Secretary of the Treasury, too insecure to be trusted, without security, and yet no security can be obtained, when demanded. Should he change the places of depo sit he will fare no better—but change he must, or recall the stipulation in the agreement. The public money appears destined to numerous transfers, and it will be well if it do not entirely disappear in some of its transits. It is certainly not in the Treasury, or under the control of the Treasurer, who has given bond for its safe keeping. It is no one but the Secretary knows where—for contingent drafts may have been privately given for the whole amount.—Such is the wretched financial system introduced for the purpose of punishing the United States Bank.—Balt. Chron.

The Flood.—A second rise of water in the Conemaugh took place on Saturday last, and was greater than any we have had since the disastrous flood of February, 1832. It bore upon its bosom an unusual quantity of drift wood.

All the public works in this neighborhood are still safe and secure.

The two levels, next below us, were entirely inundated, but received no other injury than a few trifling cuts, through the towing path.

Bills' Dam, (No. 2,) which we noticed, last week, as having been injured by the freshet, we learn had a space, of about 100 feet in length, knocked out of its centre. Both wings continue to stand. The second flood, we learned, yesterday, did but little additional damage. If no further injury is sustained, the opening of the navigation, in the spring, will not be delayed beyond the usual period. Our energetic canal officers have already set about repairing Bills' Dam.

We are gratified to learn that no injury, whatever has been done, by the flood, to the canal, between Johnstown and this place.—Blairsville Record, Jan. 22.

The Albany Argus discusses the constitutionality of a Bank of the U. S. You cannot keep these collar presses to the point. There is no charter asked for. It is "has the President power to seize upon the public moneys, and dispose of them as he pleases? If he has the power, say so; if he has not the power, why not declare it, like honest men and freemen should do? Why this shrinking and dodging from the true question?—N. Y. Star.

Rumors.—Last night, the rumor at Harriburgh was, that General Jackson had been assassinated by Lieutenant Randolph.—There was nothing in it.

The Philadelphia Gazette, of Saturday, said—"It is reported that Amos Kendall has been at Harrisburgh several days past, arranging the politics of the State."—There is nothing in this.—Harrisburgh Chronicle, Jan. 20.

Galignani's Messenger, in an article speaking of the perfection to which the manufacture of carpeting has been brought in France, states, that at the warehouse of M. de Salandrouse, in Paris, there are carpets valued at fifty thousand francs, while at the same time there are others marked as low as 100 francs. Only think, reader—after reading an article or two about the pressure on the money market—of the idea of paying $10,000 for a carpet—a thing to tread on!—Poulson.

Contractors on the public works, we understand, says the Lancaster Examiner, are now paid off with negotiable due bills, the Commonwealth's cash being exhausted.—Poulson.

Extracts from the Review of the Philadelphia Market, for the week ending January 18—Collected for the U. S. Gazette.

General Remarks—The Delaware river, which had been filled with ice since our last weekly report, has been cleared by the late heavy rains and southerly winds. Several vessels, which had been weather bound for some time, went to sea this morning. Business, generally, remains in a very languid state, and little or nothing doing, except to the retail trade. Our Price Current quotations must, in a measure, be considered as only nominal.

The new Tariff went into operation on the 1st of the present month. Articles subject to either specific or ad valorem duty, which pay more than twenty per cent. on the cost, are entitled to a reduction of ten per cent. of the excess. Wines are entitled to the same reduction, and on the 4th of March a still further reduction will take place, sufficient to make the duty but one half what it was in 1833.

Cotton—There has been no arrival of Cotton during the week. The sales, as far as reported, exceed 200 bales different descriptions. About 140 bales Louisiana and Virginia has been taken at prices varying from 11 to 13½ cents; 20 do. New Orleans, at 13 a 13 1-2 cents, 4 months; 50 do. Georgia, at 11 1-2 a 13 cents, 4 months. Export from the U. States, since 1st October last 213,338. Same time last year, 145,443. Same time year before 146,076.

Coffee—The business in Coffee has been very trifling. Prime Java is scarce, and but one small lot in the market. Sales of 410 bags of different kinds, have been reported at, for 250 bags Rio, 12 a 12 1-2 cents, 6 months; 140 bags Havana, at 10 1-4 cents cash; 20 do. Laguira, at 12 1-2 cents, and 20 do. do. old, at 14 cents. No import during the week.

Flour and Meal—In Superfine Flour there has been nothing doing, except to the retail trade. A lot of 175 bbls. was sold, early in the week, at $5 37 1-2; 120 bbls. Scratched, at $5 6¼ The sales to retailers have been at $5 37 1-2 a $5 62 1-2, according to quality and choice; the current asking price, on Saturday, was $5 50. Rye Flour has been sold at a trifling reduction on last week's quotations; a sale of 150 barrels was made at $3 50. No sales of Corn Meal, in hhds. reported; a lot of 100 barrels was taken at $2 75. We give, as the correct quotations, for Superfine Flour $5 50; Fine $—; Rye do. $3 75; Corn Meal, in hhds. $13; do. in bbls. $2 75.

Sugars—The operations in Sugar, during the week, were confined principally to New Crop New Orleans, 60 hhds. of which was sold at 8 1-4 a 8 1-2 cents, 4 months; 40 do. at 8 cents, 90 days; a parcel of St. Jago, in hhds., at 8 cents, 4 months, and 50 boxes Brown do. at $7 87 1-2, four mths.

LOUISVILLE HOTEL.

THIS new and splendid establishment, situated on Main street, has been leased of the Louisville Hotel Company by the subscribers, for a term of years, and they feel no hesitation in saying that the entire arrangement of this Hotel, for extent of accommodation, elegance, and comfort, are not surpassed by any Hotel in the United States. Its location is pleasant and airy, and but a few moments' walk from the steam boats. The house contains nearly 200 apartments, most of which have fire places; and has a private entrance, leading to thirty suits of rooms, expressly arranged for the accommodation of families—has also seventy single lodging rooms. The establishment is furnished in the best modern style, and the Wines and Liquors have been selected with great care from the most celebrated vaults in New York and Boston. The proprietors, grateful for the liberal patronage bestowed on the different establishments they have been connected with in the eastern cities, hope, by their experience and personal attention, to gain for this Hotel a reputation equal to any in America. The Hotel was opened for the reception of transient and permanent boarders on the 1st of December.

FAIRBANK'S PLATFORM SCALES.

THESE scales are constructed upon an improved principle; are fitted up with great care by the manufacturers, and warranted to weigh with accuracy from half a pound to 12,000. Being placed in, and forming part of, the floor, the process of weighing is performed with ease and facility, while the space they occupy may be improved as a passage way or for other purposes.

The construction of these scales is such that they are little liable to derangement of wear, and their perfect operation will be guaranteed for any reasonable length of time.

The usual objection, that a new method of weighing cannot be safely entrusted to unskilful hands, is obviated by the use of the improved BALANCE, concerning which are the following remarks in the Journal of the Franklin Institute, of the state of Pennsylvania, for the promotion of the Mechanic Arts, for June, 1833. (Edited by Thos. P. Jones, M. D., late Superintendent of the Patent Office, at Washington, Professor of Mechanics in the Franklin Institute, &c.

"The Messrs. Fairbanks, some time since, obtained a patent for a Platform Weighing Machine, and this mode of adjusting and graduating the Beam of the Balance, and the weights, was devised by them with a view to its employment with the before mentioned machine. We have had an opportunity of examining one of their balances, and have been much pleased with it: this examination, however, was not necessary to the conviction that it possesses a just claim to the character of a real improvement, the whole arrangement being so simple as to enable any person to perceive that it is well adapted to the purpose contemplated, that of facilitating the business of weighing, and more especially of heavy articles."

The subscriber, as Agent, will receive orders for the above Scales, which will be made in this city to order. They can be seen at his Warehouse, No. 84, Front street.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S
☞ WELCH MEDICAMENTUM. ☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,
From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.

UTICA, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly,

D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer s vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S
COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes givingt emporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradually increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in a cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.
